Programme Overview:

Exposure to COVID-19 may present a health risk to workers and other persons at a workplace. The focus of the programme is to enable employers to follow the latest public health advice and identify and implement suitable control measures to mitigate the risk of COVID-19 infection in the workplace and to communicate these public health measures to all relevant employees and others at the place of work.

This programme is designed for all managers and supervisors in any type of organisation.

Programme Outcomes:

On completion of this course, participants will be able to:

- Create a suitable COVID-19 response plan, managing the risks to employees and the public.
- Develop a suitable COVID-19 training programme for employees.
- Explain the Legislative requirements for employers and employees relating to COVID-19.
- Explain the requirements for occupational risk assessments relating to COVID-19.
- Describe recommended OSH arrangements to take in preparing for a return to work.
- Develop suitable policies and procedures for suspected cases or contact with a confirmed case in the workplace.
- Develop a suitable COVID-19 training programme for employees.

Approach:

The programme is delivered by experienced Ibec Executives who provide members with advice, consultancy, and training daily. Programme participants are encouraged to express their views and experiences. The programme facilitates participant discussion to ensure a thorough understanding of the key points and their application. Real life case studies and exercises will be used to ensure a real practical understanding of each topic.
